Window Blown In

A window was reported blown in at Charles' Pizza, 1323 Mass. ave., Jan. 1.

Backhoe digging test pit on Summer st. site selected for new junior high school.

A Summer st. site adjacent to the proposed MDC hockey rink has been selected for a new junior high school. At a recent meeting, the Junior High School Building Committee unanimously voted to insert an article in the Town Warrant to acquire this land for a school building.

Last week, site investigation began with borings and test pits being made. The photograph shows the backhoe in the process of digging a test pit to determine the nature of the land.

A comprehensive site survey of the entire town was made by the architectural firm of Davies and Wolf. The decision to select this particular site was based on the fact that the surrounding area has the greatest density and the largest growth in school population.

The land is town-owned and thus would entail no costs for acquisition. The adjacent recreation areas could be used for physical education without interfering with already established programs.

The site had been approved by the Mass. School Building Assistance Commission in April 1966 when the School Survey Committee made its study for a suitable location for a junior high school. Finally it is the only available and unused tract of land large enough for a school of the proposed size.

The site consists of 5.6 acres, sufficient for a multi-level school building with off street parking. It is bounded on the North by Summer st. and on the East by Washington st. and on the west by playground area and the proposed MDC hockey rink.

The school is being planned in such a way that certain areas can be closed off after school hours to become available for community use.

With the addition of the MDC rink and the already existing play areas, the entire tract of land, from Forest st. to Washington st., will be used for school and community purposes.

The Arlington School Committee at a special budget meeting Monday night voted to slash some $157,247 from the 1969 school budget.

The items cut were included under two budget categories—one being operation and maintenance of plant and the second being fixed assets, improvement of buildings, acquisition of equipment and equipment replacement.

The audio-visual aid program item was cut in half—a $13,163 cutback.

A request for a surface grinder machine for the high school shop, $5,700 was cut out.

A student lounge item at the high school, $6,500 was also cut out.

An item for replacement of typewriters, $2,400 was also taken from the budget as was one for the purchase of 15 electric typewriters, $6,000.

Out of Sight

Several items for resurfacing or hot-topping playgrounds, drives or parking lots at several schools were also taken from the budget.

Many of these items have been requested for five or ten years.

Several items requesting drapes at several schools in the community were also cut from the budget.

The total amount cut back under the operation of plant items was $22,930, the rest was taken from the budget relative to fixed assets, etc.

The Finance sub-committee on schools previously had sent a letter to the School Committee explaining that it would be the policy of the Finance Committee to hold the line on budgets for 1969, keeping them in line with the 1968 budgets. Chairman of the sub-committee Bernard Forest also explained the policy at the Monday meeting.

When asked if this meant all town budgets, he answered "yes."

"The prospects for the tax rate this year are going out of sight," Forest told those present.

A surprisingly small turnout was present for the special meeting with not more than a dozen interested residents in attendance.

The full School Committee and the sub-committee of the Finance Committee will meet Jan. 16, at 7:30 p.m. to finalize the budget for Town Meeting.

Bill Veeck Guest Speaker

Baseball's Bill Veeck, new president of Suffolk Downs race track and former owner of three major league teams, will be the featured speaker at the Arlington Touchdown Club Dinner tonight at 7 p.m. at Fantasia's Restaurant.

Will fans ever forget the day a fiasco came up to bat in an American League game? Bill Veeck may well go down in history merely for that moment in 1951 when he sent in Eddie Gaedel for the St. Louis Browns in a surprise move that rocked the park.

After selling the Indians and the Browns, Veeck bought into the Chicago White Sox, another team that won the American League pennant for him in 1959. The Chicago Cubs and Milwaukee Brewers are two other clubs with which he has been associated.

A promoter with a flair for entertaining the fans (he introduced the exploding scoreboard), Veeck in the last few years devoted much of his time to writing, radio and television.

An injury received as a marine in World War II cost him a leg but dampened none of his enthusiasm and energy. He makes frequent appearances on national television network shows. His syndicated columns and book reviews appeared in newspapers throughout the country in such cities as Chicago, Denver, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore and Boston.

The Saturday Evening Post, Esquire, Sports Illustrated and Reader's Digest are but a few of the magazines that have carried his by-line.

Good Turnout at TMA

Honored

Arlington Selectmen John Blaffer, Joseph Greeley, Horace Homer, Kevin Feeley and Arthur Saul, along with Senator Philibert Pellegrini and Representative Gregory Khachadorian, appeared as guest speakers at the regular January informational meeting of the Arlington Town Meeting Association, held last week.

Representative Edward J. Dever appeared prior to the meeting and explained that his presence was required at the State House that evening and expressed regrets that he could not stay. Rep. Eleanor Campobasso sent word that she was ill at home and could not attend. Rep. William Pickett also sent his regrets.

Main topics of discussion during the question and answer period that followed the speakers' remarks, were the pending Warrant article relative to Town Planning and Development; the probable effects of property revaluation; the fact that Arlington cannot plan on any property tax relief resulting from action by the State Legislature and may in fact expect to contribute more State taxes in the immediate future.

TMA members were informed, at this meeting, that TMA secretary pro-tem Richard E. Smith of Prec. 11 has consented to serve as executive secretary of the Town Finance Committee until the position can be permanently filled.

Anne M. Dacey, Prec. 5, was appointed new secretary pro-tem of the TMA.

The Town Warrant is now open for the insertion of articles and sponsors of Warrant articles who may wish an opportunity to discuss these articles at a TMA meeting, previous to Town Meeting, are invited to contact TMA vice-president and program chairman, Ann M. Powers of 234 Mountain ave. so that arrangements may be made.

The next TMA special meeting to complete adoption of the by-laws, is scheduled for Jan. 16 at the Arlington Lodge of Elks Home.

Regular informational meetings prior to the 1969 Town Meeting are scheduled for Feb. 6 and March 6, 1969.

The membership voted, at last week's meeting, that eligible members who join the TMA before adjournment of the regular meeting of April 3, 1969 may thereafter be known as charter members of the Arlington Town Meeting Association.

It was also voted to hold the first annual Election and Dinner meeting in the Lido Room of Fantasia's restaurant on Tuesday, May 6, 1969.

Report Breaks

Breaks were reported in two Arlington stores this week, one in Arlington Heights and the other in the Center area.

Police reports indicate that $18 in coins and bills were taken in a break at the Ben Franklin Store, 1303 Mass. ave., Jan. 5.

On Jan. 7, police received report of a break at Mart's Restaurant, 681 Mass. where over $100 was reportedly taken.

Meadowbrook Park, pictured above, was once one of the most popular spots in town for skating. However, since the construction of a sewer line through a segment of area and the erection of a large mound adjacent to Mystic Valley Parkway, skating has been limited over the past two years. No skating is allowed now because of hazardous conditions.

What to do with a story when it comes off of the wire is explained to student reporter Dennis Beatrice by WBZ News Editor, Peggy Printz. Dennis, who lives at 17 Marion rd., is a senior at Arlington Catholic. He is one of 42 area high schoolers participating in the second annual WBZ Radio Student Reporter program.

Dennis Beatrice, who lives at 17 Marion rd., in Arlington is currently learning the basics of electronic journalism in the WBZ Radio News Department.

Dennis, a senior at Arlington Catholic is enrolled in the Second Annual WBZ Radio Student Reporter Program, along with forty-two other area high schoolers.

Arlington's Student Reporter, under the guidance of WBZ Radio News Director, Jack Plunze, will learn how to write news stories for radio. He will then apply this information to news stories which he will write about his school. The best of these stories will be broadcast on WBZ Radio, with the student reporter receiving by-line credit.

Later in the program, Dennis will have an opportunity to tape one of his own stories. The best of these stories, actually reported by the students will also be broadcast on the station.

In addition to the learning aspects of the program, the Student Reporters will be competing for three United States Savings Bonds which will be awarded to the students who have written the best stories during the course of the year.

According to WBZ Radio General Manager Jim Lightfoot, "Students with writing ability who think about journalism careers, don't often think about radio or TV reporting. Our objective is to interest talented youngsters in the expanding career opportunities available in the electronic reporting field. If, through this program, we can interest one student in this direction, the program will be very worthwhile." Lightfoot concluded.

Dennis, in addition to his reporting activities, is a member of his school's Debating, Oratory and Glee Clubs. For extra curricular enjoyment, he works with his Parish Youth Group.

The theme of the three day convention will be "Sharing Fully in Preaching the Good News."

Jehovah's Witnesses consider preaching the Bible Message an essential part of their worship to God—therefore this program will be of great benefit to each and everyone.

Low Level of Unemployment

The year 1968 had the lowest level of unemployment recorded in Massachusetts in the past twelve years, according to a statement from Herman V. LaMark, Director of the Division of Employment Security.

Using as an index, the ratio of "insured unemployment" the average for 1968 was 2.8 per cent, as compared to 3.0 per cent for 1967 and 2.9 per cent for 1966. Insured unemployed are those members of the work force who are filing claims for unemployment insurance.

The average ratio of insured unemployment of 2.8 per cent for 1968 is the lowest since 1956 when it was 2.7 per cent. The highest ratio during this twelve-year period was in 1958 when it was 6.2 per cent.

Mr. LaMark explained that the index of insured unemployment is used by many economists because it is possible to obtain actual figures on a weekly basis from the number of claims being made for unemployment insurance. Another index used is the estimated total unemployment rate, which in both 1968 and 1967, was also at the lowest rate since 1956.

The average number of insured unemployed during 1968 was 47,000. The majority of these were short term unemployed out of work for seasonal, or similar reasons. The majority of longer term unemployed were older workers who find it more difficult to obtain new work if they lose their jobs because of technological advances, plant closings, or movings. In November 1968, 59 per cent of the insured unemployed were 45 years of age or older. Of all of the insured unemployed who had been out of work 15 weeks or more, 73.6 per cent were workers in this upper age bracket.

While the average ratio of insured unemployment was 2.8 per cent for 1968, the monthly average ranged from a high of 4.2 per cent in January to a low of 2.1 per cent in September and October.

Director LaMark pointed out that while the average number of insured unemployed was about 47,000 during the year, another estimated 45,000 to 55,000 were unemployed but either not eligible for unemployment insurance or had exhausted their claims. Among both groups are members of minority groups and other disadvantaged workers. Much has been done by the Division of Employment Security during the last few years to increase the employability of the disadvantaged so that they may obtain and hold meaningful jobs.

Some of the underlying reasons why many of the disadvantaged have found it difficult to obtain and hold good jobs are deficiencies in education, language difficulties, lack of skills, or the need for training in good work habits. A number of the agency's programs and services are designed to overcome these problems and large numbers of disadvantaged who have been helped through these programs are now wage earners with good chances for advancement.

One program highlighted by Mr. LaMark was MDTA training. Since the start of the Manpower Development and Training Act in late 1962, more than 21,000 unemployed or underemployed have graduated from such courses in Massachusetts and more than 83 per cent found employment in the field of work for which they had received training or in allied fields. In addition to those who graduated from their courses there are another 2,600 still in training. Skilled training has been given in more than 100 different occupations. Through the training of these thousands of men and women, the employers of the Commonwealth have been able to cope, to a great degree, with the manpower shortages which have gone hand in hand with the low level of unemployment.

New Program For Promotions

A new schooling program which will offer enlisted artillerymen the opportunity for speedy promotions and added responsibility is now in full swing at the U. S. Army Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, announced Sergeant Joe L. Smith, local Army recruiter.

Called the Artillery Combat Leader Program, the schooling features training in six artillery-related fields. The formal schools are then followed by on-the-job training under the supervision of veteran officers and NCO's.

The six courses include: Field Artillery Radar Operations, Field Artillery Operations and Intelligence, Ballistic Meteorology, Tactical Communications, Illumination and the Field Artillery Non-commissioned Officers Course.

The nucleus of the program is the Field Artillery Non-commissioned Officer Candidate Course which offers potential gunners or section chiefs 12 weeks of academic study and 10 weeks of on-the-job training. Soldiers attending the course enter as corporals and graduate as sergeants. A select few are promoted to staff sergeant upon completion of the training cycle.

Promotional opportunities and length of academic study vary with the course.

Information on this and other Army opportunities is available from Sergeant Joe L. Smith, local Army recruiter, whose office is located at Post Office Building, Union Sq., Somerville.

THE Observer

The Town Warrant is open, and how many articles will Town Meeting members act on this time around?

Last year was "light". The number of articles were few when compared to the record-shattering—100 plus of other years.

One of the most controversial subjects or locations "kicked-around" in the past few years was the area known as the Great Meadows in the Arlington Heights area.

Here is a parcel of land that is in Lexington, but on the other hand is the property of Arlington.

What can be done with it? What should be done with it? The question of the year as far as Arlington is concerned.

One of the most recent proposals was to use the area for a golf course. But this like so many other proposals was battered down. Why?

It is certain that in the years to come, the subject of the "Meadows" will once again be marked in an article on the Town Warrant.

And once again it will be turned down by the powers to be. Someone's always looking for the Meadows as a site for something, but it seems no one ever wants to use the Meadows as a site for anything.

The NCTE sends to all winners scrolls of recognition and it honors their high school English department with certificates of merit. Judges and state chairmen were chosen from a group of outstanding teachers of English in high schools and colleges. Many of them were heads of high school and college English departments or chairmen of college composition programs.

As basis for decision, judges received from each student a nomination blank giving biographical data; three compositions; an autobiographical sketch, an impromptu theme, and a prepared example of her best writing; results of standardized tests in composition and literary awareness; supporting statements from a teacher of English and a school administrator in each state. Teams of two judges considered these materials and voted on the best candidates.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

(Sunday Service, Jan. 12)

A communion service will be held this Sunday in First Church Christ, Scientist, Cambridge, Waterhouse st. at Mass. ave. The service will begin at 10:45 a.m. and is open to the community.

The Lesson-Sermon is titled "Sacrament," and the Golden Text is from I Samuel: "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams."

Included in the readings is the following reference from the Christian Science textbook Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done. Outward worship is not of itself sufficient to express loyal and heartfelt gratitude, since he has said: 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.'"

NEW POLICY

A new policy on dental care recently adopted by the Veterans Administration will extend treatment to Vietnam era veterans on a more liberal basis.

VA provides treatment for dental conditions that originated or were aggravated during military service if veterans apply during the first year after release from service.

Until recently, all ex-servicemen had to support their requests by military records.

Under VA's new policy, dental treatment may be provided without supporting military records if it is determined professionally during the first eight months after release from service—that the condition is service-connected.

The veteran must make his application within the first six months after release from service and he must have served on active duty six months or more to qualify for the new benefit.

VA expects the new policy will extend dental care to veterans who developed conditions during military service that were not entered in their records.

Tentative Approval

Selectmen have received a communication from Edward J. Ribbs, Commissioner of the State Dept. of Public Works advising that a tentative grant has been made contingent upon legislative appropriation and local action for highway purposes in Arlington under the provisions of Chapt. 90 of the General Law.

The project includes Appleton st. and Clark st.

Lucky You—Tax Refund Due!

Working on your Federal income tax?

Then look ahead to Line 25. It gives you a choice welcomed annually by millions of taxpayers.

Line 25 of Form 1040 (or line 11 on the 1040A) asks you to check whether you want a cash refund, or U.S. Savings Bonds to make the same cash last longer and go farther.

It's the easiest thrift decision you'll ever make.

It's the way to hang onto your refund until a time when you'll need it more... and make it grow meanwhile at a guaranteed rate of 4.25% when held to maturity. There is nothing safer or surer—and even if your Bonds are lost or stolen they'll be replaced for you.

Leave your tax refund in Uncle Sam's pocket this year, with his promise to pay you a little over four dollars for every three later on. It takes money to build a better America. That's why so many of us file Form 1040... and take refunds in Savings Bonds.
